

Biodata: Tono Suwartono, Rizqi Amalia Zulehah, & Dada Esther Morayo

Tono Suwartono is a Professor of English Language Teaching at Universitas Muhammadiyah Purwokerto, Indonesia. He holds a bachelor's degree in English Language Teaching, a master's degree in Linguistics for Language Teaching, and a Ph.D. in Language Education. In addition, he is an internationally certified TESOL trainer. He has conducted countless research studies and extensively published articles in national, international, as well as reputable international journals. He has travelled to tens of countries to present at conferences. He has also productively authored books. He has trained thousands of teachers nationwide. He also serves as a peer reviewer for several journals within Indonesia and beyond, including seven internationally reputed journals indexed in Scopus.

Rizqi Amalia Zulehah is a young yet challenging English teacher having great interest and concern in EFL teacher professional development in Indonesia. She has made attempts to initiate projects and co-work with the main author for the last three years.

Dada Esther Morayo is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Arts and Language Education, Faculty of Education, Ekiti State University, Ado Ekiti, Nigeria with specialisation in Language Education. Her research interests include: Second Language Teacher Education, Teacher Education Curriculum, Classroom Pedagogy, Curriculum Development and Language Education. She has published extensively in both Local and International Journals of repute. She is a member of many Professional Associations including Reading Association Nigeria. She has a strong interest in comparing international curriculum systems and has recently found an appealing project with the main author.