

Biodata: Kiki Juli Anggoro, Supanee Sengsri, & Kobsook Kongmanus

Kiki Juli Anggoro is a dedicated individual pursuing a doctoral degree at Naresuan University in Thailand. Alongside his studies, he serves as an assistant professor at the School of Languages and General Education at Walailak University, Thailand. With a passion for education, Kiki focuses his research on Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL), Computer-Assisted Language Learning (CALL), and the integration of online technologies in English classrooms. Through his academic pursuits and professional experience, Kiki aims to enhance language education and empower students with the necessary tools for effective communication in the modern world.

Supanee Sengsri is an accomplished associate professor at Naresuan University's Faculty of Education in Phitsanulok, Thailand. Specializing in Educational Technology and Communications, she holds a prominent position within the Department of Educational Technology and Communications. Supanee's expertise and extensive experience in this field drive her commitment to advancing educational practices. Her research focuses on integrating technology to enrich teaching and learning processes. With a passion for excellence, Supanee's contributions have a far-reaching impact on Naresuan University and the wider educational community.

Kobsook Kongmanus is a distinguished assistant professor at Naresuan University's Faculty of Education in Phitsanulok, Thailand. Within the Faculty of Education, Kobsook holds a significant role as an expert in the Department of Educational Technology and Communications. With an unwavering dedication to advancing education, Kobsook's research focuses on leveraging technology to enhance teaching and learning processes. As an esteemed faculty member, Kobsook's expertise and guidance inspire students and colleagues alike. Through her commitment to excellence, she continues to make a profound impact within Naresuan University's educational community and beyond.