

Biodata: Carlos Gelormini-Lezama

Carlos Gelormini-Lezama holds a PhD in Linguistics from the University of South Carolina. He is an Associate Professor and the Director of the Communication Program at Universidad de San Andrés, Buenos Aires, Argentina. He is an expert in Psychology of Language and Second Language Acquisition. His main area of research is anaphoric processing in Spanish and other null-subject languages. He has an extensive research and teaching background. Among the classes he has taught or currently teaches are: Introduction to Language Sciences, Communication and Cognitive Processes, English Grammar, Spanish Phonology, Contrastive Analysis of English and Spanish, and Research Methods.