

Edgar Emmanuell holds a PhD in English Language Teaching and Applied Linguistics from the University of Birmingham. He currently works as full-time teacher in the Department of Languages at the University of Guanajuato. His research interests are centred on classroom interactions, teacher and learner beliefs, and learner autonomy.