

Biodata: Minoo Alemi, Nayereh Bakhtyari Fard, & Atefeh Rezanejad

Minoo Alemi is Associate Professor of Applied Linguistics at Islamic Azad University, West Tehran Branch, Iran. She is the associate editor of Applied Pragmatics (John Benjamins) and sits on the editorial board of many journals. Her areas of interest include L2 pragmatics, technology-enhanced education, and teacher education. She is the co-editor of Pragmatics Pedagogy in English as an International Language (with Zia Tajeddin, Routledge, 2021). She has also published numerous papers in different journals such as Language Learning and Technology, Journal of Intercultural Communication Research, The Asia-Pacific Education Researcher, Language and Intercultural Communication, TESL-EJ, and RELC Journal.

Nayereh Bakhtyari Fard holds an M.A in Applied Linguistics from IAU, West Tehran Branch, Iran. Her areas of interest include technology-enhanced education and grammar. She has taught English for many years.

Atefeh Rezanejad holds a PhD in Applied Linguistics from Allameh Tabataba'i University, Tehran, Iran. She has taught English for a decade at different universities. Her areas of interest include Pragmatics, discourse analysis, and technology-enhanced education. She has also published many papers in different international journals.