

Biodata: Abdu Al-Kadi & Jamal Kaid Mohammed Ali

Abdu Al-Kadi is an applied linguist and educator who has taught English for two decades in several EFL contexts. He has published on and continues to be concerned with issues within the realm of TESOL, multiliteracies, SLA and CALL. His publication record includes more than a dozen journal articles, four book chapters, two book reviews, and some other publications in the pipeline. Dr. Al-Kadi serves as a reviewer and associate editor for five scholarly journals. His most recent academic activities include presentations at international events, viz. the AAAL Conference 2022 and the TESOL International Convention and English Language Expo.

Jamal Kaid Mohammed Ali is currently an associate professor of Applied Linguistics at University of Bisha, Saudi Arabia. He received PhD degree in Applied Linguistics in 2012 from Aligarh Muslim University, India. His research interests include Language learning and teaching, psycholinguistics, sociolinguistics, online learning, and informal digital learning. He is an e-learning and Quality Matters Master Reviewer. He got certificates from Quality Matters (QM) on Applying the Quality Matters Rubric, Peer Reviewer Course and Master Reviewer Certification.