

Biodata: Irasema Mora-Pablo & Douglas Goodwin

Irasema Mora-Pablo is a full-time teacher at University of Guanajuato, Mexico, in the Language Department. She currently teaches courses in the area of English teaching and applied linguistics. She holds a PhD in Applied Linguistics by the University of Kent, UK. Her teaching experience in university levels and her own learning experience have shaped her areas of interest: Bilingualism, English language teachers' identity formation, Latino studies, and native and non-native teachers. She is a teacher trainer and has published nationally and internationally. She is currently part of the editorial board of the International Journal of Multicultural Education and TESOL Journal.

Douglas Goodwin earned a PhD in Language Studies from Canterbury Christ Church University/University of Kent and an M.Ed in Educational Technology and ELT from the University of Manchester. He has been an English teacher trainer for more than 20 years. He currently holds the position of Dean of Instruction-Transfer, Arts, and Community Education at Southwestern Oregon Community College. He has published nationally and internationally. His research interests are in intercultural communication, social spaces, and film in learning contexts.