

Biodata: Yaynel González-Robaina, Claudio Díaz Larenas, & Yaranay López-Angulo

Yaynel González-Robaina holds a PhD in Linguistics. He is an English professor and researcher on Applied Linguistics, specifically on the processes of teaching and learning English as a Foreign Language; he has been developing his career since 2014.

Claudio Díaz Larenas has been involved in teacher training and development for over 20 years. He is currently the Director of the English teaching master program at Universidad de Concepción, Concepción Campus, Chile. He holds a PhD in Education and a master's degree in Applied Linguistics. His field of research is teacher cognition and language assessment.

Yaranay López-Angulo holds a PhD in Psychology and a master's degree in Educational Psychology. Her main field of research is concerned with the psychoeducational and cognitive-motivational variables associated with the teaching-learning processes and adaptation of students to the university life. She also investigates issues related to generic-professional identities and Psycholinguistics. She is currently an academic and researcher in the Department of Psychology at Universidad de Concepción, Concepción Campus, Chile. Recently, she won the research grant N°11230864 (FONDECYT de Iniciación de la ANID, Chile) for a research project entitled "Academic and life purposes, social adaptation, emotional, motivational, and academic self-regulation: A mixed design to explain university dropout intention and academic performance", which is currently carrying out.