

Bio-Data: Ufuk Keles

Ufuk Keles is a Fulbright grantee from Turkey. He is pursuing his PhD studies in Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Alabama, USA. Before, he was an English teacher for fifteen years at a university in Turkey. His research interests include language teacher and learner identity, language planning and policies, social justice in ELT, multicultural education, second language teacher training, and qualitative research in education. He has presented his research in several national and international conferences. At the moment, he is working on receiving qualitative research and social justice certificates alongside his dissertation. He is married and has a son.