

Bio-Data: Annjeanette Martin and Maritza Rosas-Maldonado

Annjeanette Martin holds a Ph.D. in Foreign Language Education. She is a language teacher educator and researcher at Universidad de los Andes, Chile. Her research interests are initial EFL teacher education programs and the principles of language learning. She is currently directing an undergraduate program for elementary immersion teachers.

Maritza Rosas-Maldonado, PhD, is an English teacher & researcher at Universidad Andres Bello, Chile. Her research interests are related to initial teacher education and English teaching and learning. Currently, she is researching on the effects of apprenticeship of observation on Chilean novice English teachers' beliefs & practice.