

Biodata: Juanita Catalina Argudo Serrano, Tammy Mercedes Fajardo-Dack, Monica Patricia Abad Celleri, Homero Patricio Cabrera-Tenecela

Juanita Argudo has a bachelor's degree in English teaching from Universidad del Azuay and a master's degree in English Language and Applied Linguistics from Universidad de Cuenca, both in Cuenca-Ecuador. She is a PhD in Education from Universidad Nacional de la Plata in La Plata, Argentina. She is a professor at the teacher-training program and at the Language Department at Universidad de Cuenca. Her research areas of interest are in-service and preservice teachers' development and language evaluation.

Tammy Fajardo-Dack has a bachelor's degree in English teaching from Universidad del Azuay and a master's degree in English Language and Applied Linguistics from Universidad de Cuenca, both in Cuenca-Ecuador. She is a PhD in Language and Literacies Education from OISE-University of Toronto. She is also a professor at the teacher-training program at Universidad de Cuenca. Her research areas of interest are CLIL for preservice teachers, teacher research in university education, communities of practice as a space for teacher professional development, and the social theory of learning.

Mónica Abad has a bachelor's degree in English teaching from Universidad del Azuay and a master's degree in English Language and Applied Linguistics from Universidad de Cuenca, both in Cuenca-Ecuador. She is a PhD in Education from Universidad Nacional de la Plata in La Plata, Argentina. She is also a professor at the teacher-training program at Universidad de Cuenca. Her research areas of interest are CLIL for preservice teachers and Patricio Cabrera has a bachelor's degree in Philosophy, Sociology, and Economics, and a second bachelor's degree in English teaching, both from Universidad de Cuenca, a master's degree in Integrative Research from Universidad Multiversidad Mundo Real Edgar Morín in Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico. He is a researcher at Cabrera y Andrade Cia Ltda in Cuenca, Ecuador. His research areas of interest are Applied Linguistics and Students' views about instructional practices.