

Biodata: Phachara Saiphet

Phachara Saiphet is a doctoral candidate in Language, Literacy, and Culture at the College of Education, University of Massachusetts Amherst, USA. He taught English in Thailand for six years before pursuing his doctorate. His areas of academic interest include autoethnography, decoloniality, critical applied linguistics, poststructuralism, and narrative inquiry.