

Biodata: Thinley Wangdi & Samten Namgyel

Thinley Wangdi (Corresponding Author) is a lecturer at the School of Languages and General Education in the University of Walailak in Thailand. He has completed his Masters in Arts, majoring Teaching English as an International Language from Prince of Songkla University, Thailand. He has more than 8 years of teaching experience in the EFL context. His research interests include second language acquisition, teacher education, technology and education, and areas related to teaching English as second/foreign language.

Samten Namgyel is a teacher at Benjamarachutit School, Thailand with international teaching experience of about five years. He holds a bachelor of Education (B.Ed.) from Samtse College of Education, Bhutan. His research interests include education and technology, science and teacher education and classroom management.